HTHS Class of 1927 to Hold Big Homecoming

THE CLASS OF 1927 of Harrisburg Township high school is planning a big Class Homecoming at the HTHS Homecoming Friday, Oct. 25.

This was decided when the class met at the HTHS Golden Anniversary a few years back.

Mrs. Ada Rawlins Cole is chairman of the Homecoming committee and has sent out letters to all the living members of the class.

"Start planning now to take the day off so we can all celebrate together," the letter says.

It points out that Mrs. Ed Martin (Maud Taylor) is having open house at her home, 719 South McKinley, from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. for all class members, wives and husbands. The parade float will be decorated that day at Mrs. Martin's home.

The Elks lodge rathskeller has been reserved for a dinner at 6 p. m. and the group will go to the game together.

Dinner reservations must be made by Oct. 15.

"Very informal dress is recommended as you probably won't have time to change clothes and the way things look now, you will be riding on hay in the parade," the letter concludes.

THIS AND THAT: Rev. Glen Daugherty, minister at the First Christian church, has written to the Harrisburg football team commending the boys on their training.

His letter: "Dear Team, 'The news article about your training rules and enforcement of them which was in The Daily Register gave me a great thrill. 'I am sure Mr. Caluffetti and the other staff members must be proud of you. 'If you didn't win but the one game all year, I would have to

Governors, Ike Confer

Four State Chiefs Agree On Plan For Easing Crisis at Little Rock

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four southern governors agreed today on a proposal to President Eisenhower for easing the Little Rock integration crisis and expressed "high hopes" of a solution.

They refused to reveal their "plan of action" in advance of their afternoon White House meeting with the President.

But it seemed apparent that the four governors—all "moderates" in the South's stand on racial integration—had drafted a compromise designed to remove federal troops and ease the federal-state clash in Arkansas.

Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, chairman of the delegation, said after a four-hour and 20-minute strategy conference in

Negro Leaders Ask Conference With Stratton

CHICAGO (AP)—Negro leaders asked for a conference with Gov. William G. Stratton today on segregation in Illinois.

The Illinois branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People contended that there are more Negro children attending segregated schools in Illinois than there are in Arkansas.

Gerald Bullock, president of the Illinois NAACP, called on Stratton to end "deplorable conditions involving deliberate segregation of colored and white children and teachers" in Illinois schools.

Bullock called the governor's attention to "segregation practices" in the communities of Colp, Phoenix and Centerville, but said that "these particular cases are typical of an all too general condition."

The NAACP said there are more than 100,000 Negro children attending all-Negro schools situated in 16 Illinois counties.

his hotel room: "I have high hopes that we can come to some solution of the Little Rock situation."

They agreed unanimously to limit their joint proposals to the issue of the use and role of federal troops in enforcing Little Rock school integration.

Could Broad Discussion But Hodges said they did not close the door on broadening the area of discussion if Eisenhower wants to bring up general questions on southern racial problems.

Present at the marathon strategy huddle with Hodges were Govs. Frank Clement of Tennessee, LeRoy Collins of Florida and Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland.

Hodges would not say whether the group contacted Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas at any time during the all-morning session.

Nor did the group make any plans for a possible conference with Faubus until after they could talk with Eisenhower, Hodges said.

Picket White House While the four governors were meeting, the federal government withdrew paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division from daytime sentry duty around Little Rock's Central High school. They were replaced by members of the federalized Arkansas National Guard.

However, a Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said there was no connection between the troop withdrawal and the President's conference with the four governors. The four came here to seek complete removal of federal troops from the integration dispute.

Hagerty said it always had been the plan to relieve the paratroopers from the Arkansas Guard as soon as possible.

The White House was picketed by a small band of segregationists led by John Kasper.

Arkansas Guard Replaces Troops At Little Rock

Federal Judge Davies Replaced By Roy W. Harper

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—National Guardsmen replaced the regulars of the 101st Airborne Division on daytime sentry duty around Central High School today in the first step toward withdrawal of federal troops.

An Army spokesman said members of the federalized Arkansas National Guard henceforth will be in "complete charge" of protecting Central High around the clock.

About 100 paratroopers of the 101st Airborne remained at the high school, quartered in locker rooms beneath the football stadium. Nearly 1,000 other paratroopers are being held at an Army reserve training army in Little Rock and at Camp Robinson, on the outskirts of the city.

Military sources intimated that the paratroopers will stay in Little Rock for several more days at least, but will keep "in the background" while the 153rd Infantry Regiment of the Arkansas Guard escorts Negro children to the school and keeps order in the school area.

The nine Negro students drove to school as usual this morning in an Army station wagon preceded and followed by jeeploads of troops. This time, however, the troops in the jeeps were Arkansas guardsmen rather than members of the 101st Airborne.

A "southern" U. S. district judge, Roy W. Harper of St. Louis, replaced Judge Ronald N. Davies of Fargo, N. D., in Little Rock.

Davies was the judge who twice ordered Central High desegregated and finally put Gov. Orval Faubus under an injunction to stop using the National Guard to keep Negroes out of the school.

Faubus has since referred to him as an "imported judge." Davies said "that in the interest of sound judicial administration in the present atmosphere it would be better if another judge handled the court calendar in Little Rock."

But he said he will retain jurisdiction over the integration questions he has ruled on and will return "as circumstances may require."

Southern Illinois Historical Society to Meet at SIU Oct. 18

Color slides of historical points of interest in the area will be shown to members of the Southern Illinois Historical Society at a meeting Oct. 18 at Southern Illinois University.

L. A. Dearing, Mt. Vernon, will show the slides in the Library Auditorium following a 6 p. m. dinner in the University Cafeteria.

Another feature of the meeting will be an election of officers, according to E. G. Lentz, Carbondale, president.

Taxpayers have the privilege of paying their delinquent taxes before the tax sale by paying a small cost covering the preparation of the list and the publication fee. After the property is sold, they still have a considerable period in which to redeem the property, but the costs are higher, since the tax purchaser is entitled to the extra costs under law.

The property as listed in the delinquent tax lists is under the name of the last recorded owner, but is offered for sale by description.

Bloodmobile Here Tomorrow; Remind Donors of Urgent Need

All potential blood donors were reminded today of the urgent need for blood at the Bloodmobile visit to Harrisburg tomorrow.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Elks club from 12 noon until 6 p. m., and anyone wishing to give blood who has not been contacted by the committee can come to the Elks club without an appointment.

A Red Cross spokesman urged everyone eligible to give blood to make an effort to appear tomorrow in order that Saline county may continue to receive the benefits of this all-important function.

Delinquent Tax List Published

The delinquent tax list for Saline county, covering taxes assessed in 1956 and payable this year, is published in today's edition of The Daily Register and the Eldorado Daily Journal.

The county collector will apply for judgment on October 11 against real estate on which taxes have not been paid, and the property will be offered for sale on Monday, October 14.

Taxpayers have the privilege of paying their delinquent taxes before the tax sale by paying a small cost covering the preparation of the list and the publication fee. After the property is sold, they still have a considerable period in which to redeem the property, but the costs are higher, since the tax purchaser is entitled to the extra costs under law.

No One Hurt in Blast; Hall Is a Shambles

William Hatchett Jr., Owner, Is Leader of Integration Attempts

COLP, Ill. (AP)—A mysterious explosion tore apart a Negro dance hall owned by the president of the school board whose attempts at integration led to a boycott of the school by white parents.

No one was injured in the blast which left the New Orleans Club a shambles late Monday night. A 7-by-9 foot hole was knocked thru the concrete block back wall, the front floor was blown out, and windows were shattered at least three blocks away.

Mayor Frank Caliper said it appeared that at least a case of dynamite must have been used to cause the extensive damage. Authorities, however, had not determined the cause of the explosion.

Williamson County Sheriff Carl Miller said he is working on a "couple of leads" but he refused to say what they were.

County authorities, village officials, state police and the FBI teamed up in the investigation. Miller said he also has called for a state bomb expert.

The sheriff said he did not think the blast stemmed from a recent attempt to integrate Negro and white grade school students.

Four men were in the club in a barroom adjoining the devastated area. One of them, Eddy Williams, who was sleeping at a table, was blown to the floor. No one was in the ballroom which is open only on Friday and Saturday evenings.

William Hatchett Jr., 32, president of the Colp school board and owner of the New Orleans Club, said he did not know if the explosion was the result of racial difficulties in this town of 450.

White parents refused to send their children to a consolidated school at the beginning of the fall semester on grounds the accommodations were inadequate. The seven-man school board, four of whom are Negro, voted to consolidate Colp's two schools last spring.

The white children were sent to schools in nearby Carterville, Herrin and Hurst. The parents said they had no objection to integration, only to the conditions of the consolidated school in Colp.

Hatchett, whose home is about 30 feet away from the dance hall, said the blast splintered windows in his residence and endangered his 5-week-old son who was sleeping in a crib. The child had been moved a short time before the blast and escaped injury from a shattered mirror in his room, Hatchett said.

Authorities investigating the explosion noted there were gas appliances near the huge hole in the wall, but said that the wall leaned in, indicating the explosion occurred on the outside.

Hatchett said he had been expecting trouble, but mentioned the possibility that someone might be taking advantage of the school controversy to sidetrack investigators.

Highway Worker Fatally Injured

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Truman Malone, 45, Bridgeport, was killed Monday on a highway widening job here when a truck loaded with asphalt knocked him down and ran over him.

Coroner Charles Emmons said Malone was helping spread asphalt when the backing truck driven by Don Sullivan, Vincennes, Ind., hit him.

Gunman Slain, Second Captured

Kill 2 Policemen; 3 Hurt

NORTH VERNON, Ind. (AP)—Three Indiana state policemen today captured the surviving one of two gunmen who had killed two state police troopers and wounded three other officers in a series of running gun battles across two states.

They identified him as Victor Wayne Whitley, 26, Granger, Tex. Lt. Fred Lee, Sgt. William Kirkham and Sgt. Bob Grey of the state police flushed him out of a thinly wooded area near a farm five miles south of here. He surrendered with his hands in the air when they hailed him from a patrol car.

Whitley and his slain companion, believed to have been Ralph Walker Taylor, 36, St. Alban's, W. Va., were wanted for the slaying of a Michigan state trooper and an Indiana state policeman; the abduction of a woman and a man in Michigan and a deputy sheriff in Indiana; the wounding of a Michigan state trooper, the wounding of a North Vernon city policeman, and the wounding of an Indiana trooper; and at least one bank robbery.

Unarmed When Captured Whitley, a tall, blond young man with a crew cut, was covered with blood from briar scratches, but otherwise unhurt. His sports shirt and khaki pants were torn. The three policemen saw him walking through the area with his hands on his hips and when they hailed him he put his hands into the air. He was unarmed when he was captured, and was taken to the state police post at Seymour, Ind., for questioning. His companion had died from wounds earlier in the chase, and was thrown out of a car. He was found along a roadside.

Police, fearful they would have to shoot it out with the gunman, carried a heavy array of weapons and kept in touch with each other with walkie-talkies during the search.

Other officers in the state police and North Vernon police contingents girdled the area on foot and manned about 75 roadblocks in 10-square mile area south of here.

The search was held up for a time this morning by a dense fog. Police feared the searchers would be "sitting ducks" for the gunman in the fog and early morning darkness.

The bandits were believed wanted for a cross-country crime spree that included at least one bank robbery.

Spotted by Indiana Police They began their shooting spree in Michigan Monday afternoon when they shot and seriously wounded Michigan trooper Douglas Vogel who stopped two cars near Jackson Mich., apparently for a traffic violation.

The bandits were stopped a second time by Michigan troopers Duane Pellot and Frederick B. O'Connell. Pellot was shot and killed almost instantly by the bandits. The two also fired at O'Connell but missed.

They then fled to Indiana where Indiana state policeman William Kellem spotted their car as one stolen in Michigan.

Kellem stopped their car near Scottsburg Monday night and was shot and killed as he approached it.

Indiana state police set up a road block south of nearby North Vernon. A short time later the gunman approached and stopped. Again the bandits ambushed police who came to question them. North Vernon city policeman Les

Five W's and an H

BY PHIL PASTORET

The six most challenging, and most challenged, words in the world are the foundation on which this newspaper is built.

"Who?" — "What?" — "Where?" — "When?" — "Why?" — "How?"

Rattle them off, quickly, and they come out short, sharp, staccato; a machine-gun burst of query made for ripping open subjects to lay bare the facts that are within.

Savor those words. Slowly, quietly. Roll them around on your tongue. Extract the mental flavor of their sharpness. Experience their bite. They are the most controversial words in the world.

Your right to know WHO is doing WHAT to affect your life is constantly disputed. Your newspaper does its best to tell you WHO.

Your right to know WHAT is going on in this world that will affect you is challenged by a legion whose members believe that what you don't know won't hurt you. Your newspaper believes that you have a right to know WHAT, and strives to find out for you.

To let you know WHERE things are happening, your newspaper joins hands with the news and picture services which extend its problems to the most remote regions of the earth.

WHEN a thing is going to occur is important, perhaps vital to you. Is the city council to meet in sudden, secret session?

Is a nation pointing its way toward action that could affect your life? It's your newspaper's job to tell you.

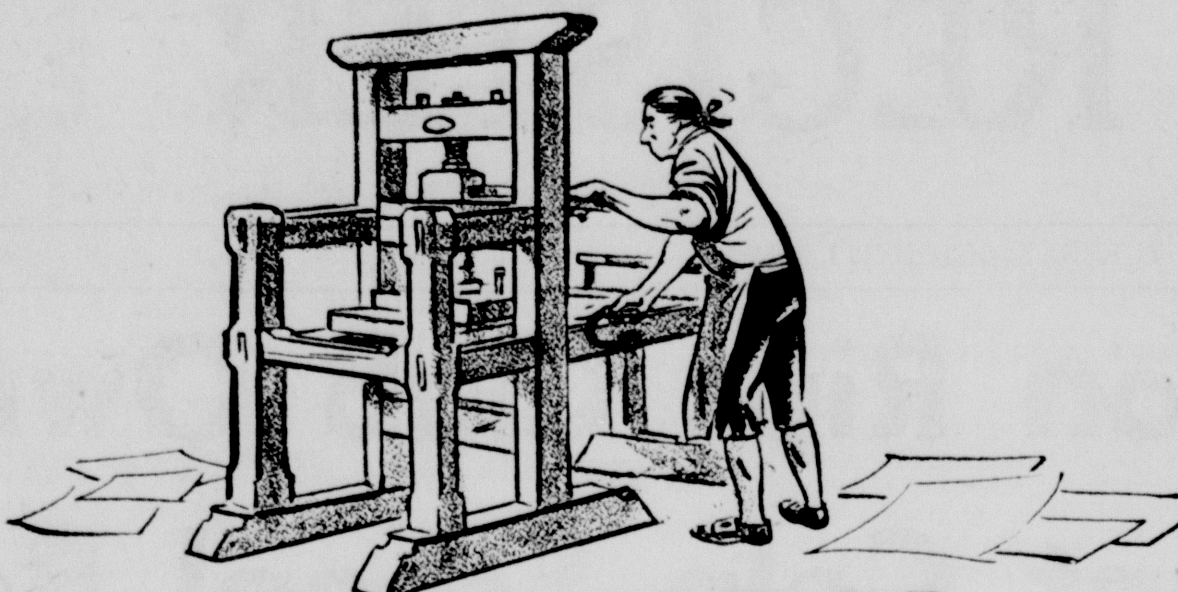

The WHY behind the who, what, where, and when of the world's events is often the most vital fact of all. Many dispute your right to know the why of a matter. Your newspaper is in existence to tell you why.

Perhaps the HOW of finding the news is the most challenged of these words.

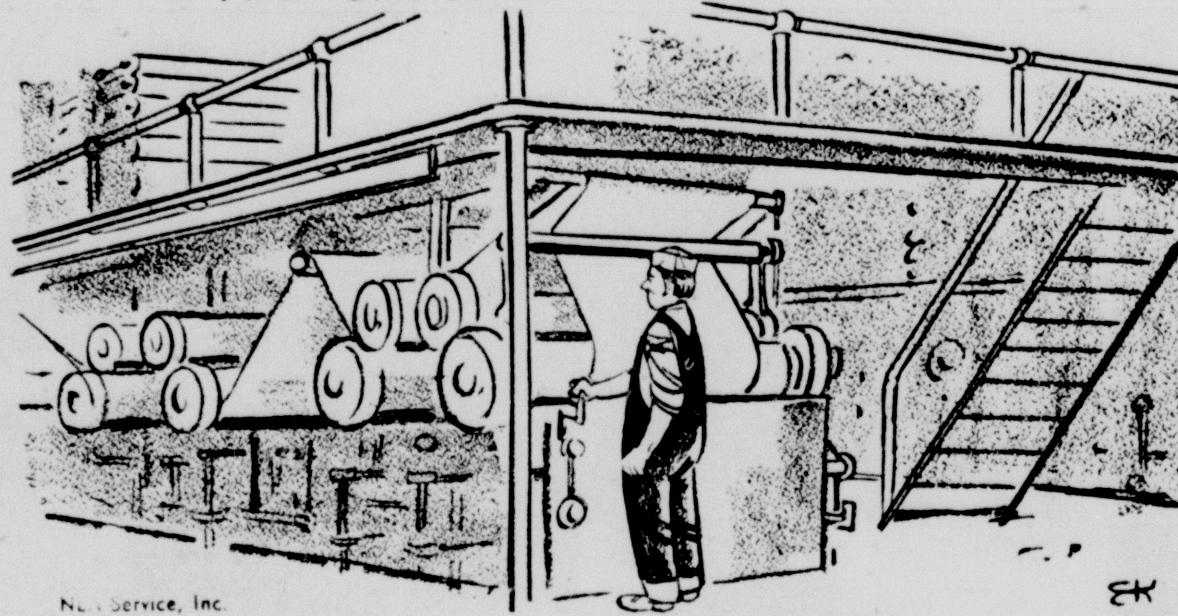

Little men in high places would dispense information by handout; no direct questions, please. Some judges would mask the photographer's lens in the folds of judicial robes to prevent the practice of today's photo-journalism.

Your newspaper cements the five W's and an H into a shield that protects your freedom. It's up to you to help uphold that shield. Let no one meddle with the foundations of your newspaper.

THE METHOD CHANGES BUT THE CAUSE IS THE SAME...

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson today writes from the desert kingdom to which the United States recently rushed modern weapons.)

DREW PEARSON Says:
Arab World Is Racing Ahead; It Has Seen 100 Years Of Social Changes In Only 10; Palestinian Refugees Constitute Most Unsettling Force In Arab States.

AMMAN, JORDAN. — Just outside my window in the Hotel Philadelphia is an ancient Roman amphitheater built before Pontius Pilate, the Roman procurator, decreed the crucifixion of Christ. Among the marble seats where Roman crowds once looked down on the lions and the gladiators, goats now browse. "Weeds grow between the marble slabs. Donkeys amble past the amphitheater as they did in the days of Joseph and Mary. All is serene and peaceful.

But in the rest of Jordan and the Arab world it is not peaceful. "The Arab world," King Hussein of Jordan told me, "after sleeping for centuries, has now raced ahead."

That is what presents the great problem for the United States if it is to continue its interest in Israel in oil, and its desire to keep the Arab world from coming under Russian domination.

For King Hussein is right. The Arab world, after sleeping since the 15th century has now raced ahead. It is experiencing as many social changes in one decade as the United States experienced in one century. It is jumping from a nomad economy of goat herds to an industrial economy of airplanes and factories in a few short years. In 1948, the city of Amman had a population of 40,000. Today, 10 years later, its population is almost 240,000. In 1910, Jordan was a sleepy desert sheikdom under Turkey in which no one could travel at night outside the city. Caravans had to be heavily guarded. Only in the city was there safety.

Today, Jordan is relatively safe in the countryside. But in the city there's assassination, bomb-throwing, rioting—the techniques of violent modern politics when a people who don't understand politics have to learn it rapidly.

REFUGEES SPREAD POLITICS
The first awakening of the Arab world came in 1866 when a group of New York Presbyterians founded Beirut college. The college trained Arab leaders in the ways of the West planted the first seeds of democratic revolt against 500 years of Turkish rule.

The second great awakening came when Palestinian refugees, fleeing from what is now Israel, fanned out through the Arab world.

While the lot of the refugees, in many cases, has been hard, their political influence has been tremendous. They have been the single greatest factor in the Arab awakening since the end of Turkish rule. Just as the tribes of Israel, exiled from Palestine, carried with them an advanced culture so the Arab refugees fleeing from the same part of the world have spread more advanced political and social theories.

For under the British mandate, Palestine reached a higher standard of government than any other part of the Near East. Schools were better, universities excellent. And the Arabs who left when Israel took over in 1948 have provided many of the doctors, teachers, diplomats, architects, editors for the Arab nations today.

Every Arab delegation to the United Nations in New York has one or more Palestinian refugees serving as advisers. The publisher of the leading Arab paper in Beirut, Al Havaat, is a refugee. Kamel Mrowa. The editor of the chief Arab weekly, "Magazine" is Clovis Rivk a refugee. The architects who have designed the beautiful new buildings in Damascus Beirut and Amman are refugees. The reason why Amman has grown from a city of 40,000 to a city of 240,000 in 10 years is refugees.

Upon one of Amman's eight hills is a new street nicknamed "Marble Row," because of the beautiful new homes, largely built by Palestinian refugees. Their cost: about $200,000 each.

SAUD'S TIME IS UP
Wealthy refugees, of course, are in a great minority. The vast majority of refugees are peasants still living in camps.

But whether in camps or in high places, the Palestinian refugees have been the dominant factor both in the awakening of the Arab world and in contributing to its political instability. They are one reason for demands of land reform and also for hatred of the United States and England.

When I asked a top expert on the Arab question what was the future of King Saud of Saudi Arabia, he replied:

"His time is up. He'll last about five years. Saud has Palestinian refugees and they are too advanced to let him get away with a feudal monarchy. They have gone out to carry the torch of democracy all over the Arab world."

In Jordan, the refugees hate King Hussein because Hussein is pro-West. They hate the United States and Britain because we have been sympathetic to Israel. If the United Nations Relief and Works Agency, which has done a remarkable job of handling refugees, should try to take the refugees now living in Jordanian camps out of those camps and settle them in Iraq, which has a labor shortage, King Hussein would be overthrown. The refugees would never stand for it. They want to remain in their camps, even in poverty, as a symbol of bitterness against Israel, a symbol of determination to go back to Israel.

No matter what their poverty no matter how long they have to wait, they prefer to sit in filth and bitterness till the day comes when they can return.

King Hussein would like to have them leave Jordan for Iraq, but can't say so publicly. Iraq could use most of them. But as the Iraqi minister of development once remarked in an unguarded moment: "To use refugees on our irrigation policies would solve the refugee problem."

He didn't say so, but the implication was clear. Arab leaders are determined to keep the refugee problem unsolved, held as a sword over Israel.

Bamboo is the largest member of the family of grasses, though most people think of it as a bush or tree. It has been known to grow 16 inches in a single day and reach a height of 120 feet. In Ceylon, bamboo spreads so rapidly that within a month roads through a growth of it can completely disappear.

Grandparents Give Lawn Party For Second Birthday Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Turner's home was the scene of a lawn party, celebrating the second birthday of Billy Hughes, Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Helen Hughes took moving pictures of the children as they played on the lawn. Everyone was given party favors of hats and toys, and refreshments of cupcakes, ice cream and pop were served. Attending were: Mrs. Jane Turner, Mrs. Ora Hastings, Mrs. Johnnie Wilkins and Susie, Mrs. Zada Turner and Oma Nell, Mrs. Barbara Hughes and Jimmy, Mrs. Irma Jean VanMeter and David, Mrs. Martha Blessinger and Charlie, Mrs. Dorothy Scott, Jimmy and Stevie, Mrs. Oma Turner, Mrs. Mary Lou Hughes, Mrs. Helen Hughes and Billy.

Xi Chi Chapter Opens Fall Season

The Xi Chi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its first fall meeting in the library clubroom recently. Mrs. Jack Davenport, president, read the minutes of the city council meeting of Beta Sigma Phi during the business session. Mrs. Roy Metcalf read the Exemplar ritual for Miss Jeannette James who became a member of Xi Chi chapter from Beta Kappa chapter.

Refreshments were served during the social hour. Program books were distributed and the members read them with a feeling of a year of interesting activity opening up before them.

Buffalo Roast on Menu for State Historical Group

SPRINGFIELD — Buffalo roast, mul. cider, corn lunn and peach fool are on the menu for the "pioneer" meal that will be served for the annual dinner of the Illinois State Historical Society Oct. 11.

Society President Ralph E. Francis of Kankakee asked that the dinner be made a pioneer meal.

So Bruce Kaiser, manager of the Student Union at Illinois State Normal University at Normal where the dinner will be held, searched through old cook books in the university library to make up the menu.

The buffalo roast, boned, rolled rib of native buffalo packed in ice, will come from a New York caterer.

Corn lunn is a type of corn bread. Peach fool, the dessert, is stewed fruit with a custard sauce.

Also on the menu are squash, string beans with salt pork, pickled beets, and cucumber and onion rings.

The dinner will be the highlight of the two-day annual meeting of the society. Dr. Harry T. Williams, professor of American history at Louisiana State University, will be speaker at the dinner.

Other speakers for the meeting will include Loring C. Merwin, publisher of the Bloomington Daily Pantagraph, and Illinois state historian Clyde Walton.

Dorris Heights Unit Meets With Mrs. Cook

The Dorris Heights unit of the Home Bureau held its regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Toral Cook, recently. The meeting was opened by the new chairman, Mrs. Mable Pankey, with ten members present. The roll call was answered with the payment of dues. Mrs. Ray Caldwell presented the major lesson, "Arrangement of Flowers, Shrubs, Leaves and Twigs."

Plans were made for the next meeting which will be held in the home of Mrs. Barney Ashe. The hostess served refreshments to her guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wanless, Auburn Heights, Mich., are visiting his father, W. M. Wanless, on East Lily street, his sister, Mrs. Otto McClusky, RFD 3, and brother, Bill Wanless, and their families. Mrs. Wanless is a cousin of Mrs. Frances Dempsey and Mrs. C. C. Porter and they will visit her mother, Mrs. John Causey and family at Essex, Mo., before returning to Michigan.

Mrs. Allen Devine and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Dunston of Chicago are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Denny, 813 South Ledford street. Mrs. Devine and Mrs. Dunston are sisters of Mrs. Denny.

Pretty Fashions to Wear at Home

Looking picture pretty at home this fall isn't difficult with fashions like these. Frothy peignoir (left) is cut from a cloud of pink embroidered nylon. Shirred neckline is edged in woven-edge satin ribbon that ends in bow. To brighten any autumn morning, there's this gown and peignoir set (center) that's prettied up with lace and ribbon. Gown is slender and has big satin bow at high waistline. The hostess coat is a shimmering sight in ice blue panne velvet (right). It's washable. Coat has deeply shirred bat-wing sleeves and neckline encircled and tied in ribbon.

In loving memory of Coy Harner, who passed away 2 years ago Oct. 1, 1955:

When evening shades are falling,
We sit in quiet alone.
To our hearts comes a longing,

Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know the heartache,
Our smile hides all the while.

Announce Staff Changes in Shawnee Forest

District Ranger Paul R. Larsson of Poplar Bluff, Mo., has been promoted to a staff position at Shawnee National Forest headquarters at Harrisburg. He replaces K. P. Butterfield who recently went to Rhineland, Wis., as Forest Supervisor.

In announcing the re-assignment, Shawnee Forest Supervisor L. P. Neff said "Larsson has done an exceptional job on his ranger district. His knowledge of silviculture and ability in timber sales administration make him particularly well suited to his new position."

Mr. Larsson received his forestry degree from the University of Idaho. He held a number of district ranger and staff forester positions in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana before his assignment at Poplar Bluff in 1953. He was staff forester in the Shawnee in 1949-1951 so the Larssons are well known in Harrisburg. With their two daughters the Larssons will make their home at 110 South Granger street. A third daughter recently graduated from nurses training in St. Louis.

Replacing Mr. Larsson at Poplar Bluff will be Ronald A. White who is now District Ranger at Florence, Wis. He and his family will move into the Ranger Station at Poplar Bluff around October 6. "This will also be a well deserved promotion for Mr. White," Mr. Neff said.

Political Crisis In French Gov't

PARIS (AP)—France was plunged today into its most difficult political crisis since World War II. There was speculation Gen. Charles de Gaulle might be called from political retirement to save the Fourth Republic.

The government of Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunoury fell on a vote of confidence shortly before midnight. The issue was his proposed law to give more home rule to rebellious Algeria, and the fight against it was led by fiery Conservative Jacques Soustelle.

Never since the war has France been split so deeply on an issue as on Algeria. A solution appeared impossible and the influential Paris newspaper La Monde warned that the crisis may be so big there may even be a "call to De Gaulle."

De Gaulle retired from active politics in 1952 after helping form the Fourth Republic at end of World War II and twice serving as premier.

Tiny Capital

When Lansing became Michigan's capital in 1847, it was a frontier clearing with one log house and a sawmill. Legislature chose it, half jokingly, after electing more populated townships.

Rev. Chas. Scott Heads Harrisburg Ministerial Alliance

The Harrisburg Ministerial Alliance at its regular monthly meeting this week elected Rev. Charles Scott president to replace the outgoing president, Rev. Wm. B. Fuson. Rev. Scott is pastor of the Nazarene church on South Main street.

Rev. William Burroughs, pastor of the Presbyterian church, the retiring secretary and treasurer, is succeeded by Rev. Ernest Ammon, Saline Association Missionary, who has lately moved to this new position from a nine-year pastorate at Carrier Mills.

During the past year the Ministerial Alliance, under the leadership of Rev. Fuson, has arranged for the Union meetings for Easter and Thanksgiving. Also the annual Bible school parade for all the churches is sponsored by the alliance. The prizes given come from funds received by the ministerial organization at the Union services. On many occasions the organization contributes to needy and destitute people and transients who have had misfortunes.

A religious inquiry was made by the ministers in the schools of Harrisburg during the past year. This was of considerable interest and help to the churches of Harrisburg. The group is interested in the religious and civic problems and progress of the community. The ministers are quick and ready to help in any worthy activity. Many of the people of Harrisburg follow the advice and observation of this group about issues of the day and religious guidance. The ministers wish to extend their thanks to the town and the churches for their co-operation during the past year.

The next Union church event will be the annual Thanksgiving service to be held at one of the churches in the city the latter part of November.

Brantley Boy Is Too Ill at Home to Receive Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. James Brantley, RFD 2, Harrisburg, regret that they cannot ask the friends and neighbors who have been so kind to their son, Freddie Brantley, 12, to visit him. Freddie is much too ill to receive visitors. He has spent much of the last year in hospitals, having been in and out of Barnes in St. Louis, Mo., over a period of about six months. About a month ago, he was taken to Mayo's clinic in Rochester, Minn., and they let him return to his home, following tests and treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Brantley express gratitude for the many kindnesses and the help in securing treatment for their son, offered by people of the community.

Gunmen Kill Two Policemen, Wound 3

ter (Tiny) Kenna was shot three times and critically wounded.

Kenna and Sheriff Charles Dudley returned the fire, fatally wounding one of the bandits. The gunmen then disarmed Deputy Sheriff Clyde Perkins and fled in his car, taking Perkins as a hostage.

Carried Much Money
During the flight, the wounded gunman died and his accomplice pushed him from the car. He later abandoned the vehicle and fled on foot into the woods.

During the long night, police cars cruised adjacent roads and fields their spotlights sweeping the area to pick out the fugitive should he try to escape. Other police patrolled the area on foot.

During their flight through Michigan Monday, the bandits abducted Harry Crowe, 71, a factory worker, and took his car, leaving Crowe bound and gagged nearby.

They later stopped Mrs. Gordon Le Cronier near Clinton Mich., and convinced her they were FBI agents. They took her car and released her unhurt.

Mrs. Le Cronier said the men were carrying "a whole bunch of hundred dollar bills."

Epping Trial To Begin Nov. 4

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Edward A. Epping, former aide to ex-Auditor Orville E. Hodge, will go on trial here Nov. 4 on forgery, confidence game and embezzlement charges growing out of the Hodge scandal.

Hodge's former office manager, Epping is now serving a prison term for conspiracy to defraud the state. The additional charges have been pending.

Circuit Judge De Witt S. Crow set the trial date Monday, after hearing legal arguments in the case. Epping's attorneys attempted to have the charges dismissed, on grounds they had not been prosecuted within four months after Epping's indictment.

A new four-month law involving pending indictments was passed by the 1957 Legislature. However, State's Atty. J. Waldo Ackerman argued its provisions did not apply to the Epping case until November, four months after the law became effective.

Hodge, Epping and Edward A. Hintz, former president of the Southmoor bank at Chicago, were the principals indicted in the multi-million-dollar Hodge scandal.

Reject Requests By Oil Importers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today rejected requests of three crude oil importers for large quotas under the voluntary oil import program.

Capt. Matthew V. Carson Jr., administrator of the program, said requests for larger daily import quotas by Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, Tidewater Oil Co., and Standard Oil Co. of Ohio had been rejected.

"The petitions of these three companies were carefully considered, but it has been concluded that adjustments in the recommended allocations are not warranted," Carson said.

The three companies were among seven which sought larger quotas under the government's program to reduce crude oil imports by 25 companies in the United States. The other four requests are under study, Carson said.

Two Japanese Killed, Two Hurt By Airman's Car

FUKUOKA, Japan (AP)—An American airman whose automobile killed two persons and injured two others in a series of hit-run accidents Saturday night has claimed he "can't remember what happened" that night, Japanese police said today.

The airman, S. Sgt. Winston Eley, 32, Philadelphia, was turned over to Japanese police by U. S. military authorities Monday.

He was to be questioned by a judge today to determine whether he can be held another 10 days pending investigation.

Police said Eley's car, driven wildly through drizzling rain, struck and injured a physician and his wife on a motorcycle, hit and killed a 50-year-old woman and then careened on for about a quarter of a mile and struck and killed a 38-year-old housewife. All the victims were Japanese.

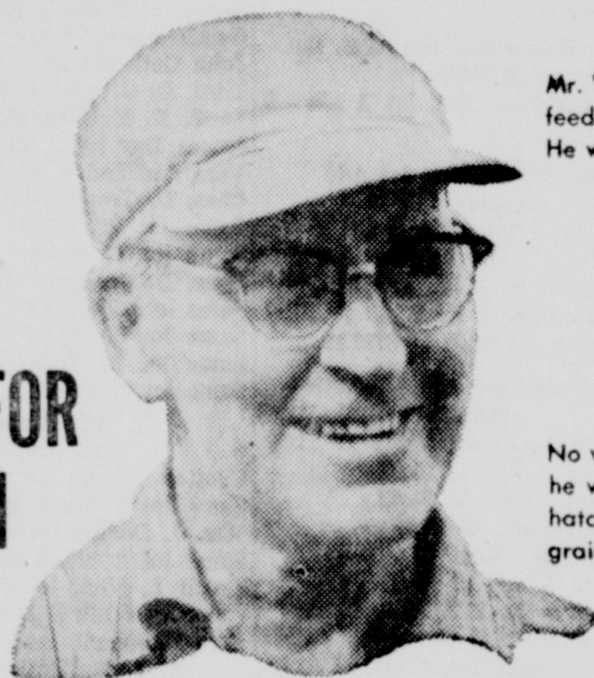

The car later was found abandoned near a bridge in the suburb of Fukuoka and traced to Eley.

Eley told newsmen Monday he was not driving the car when the accident occurred and did not know who was.

But police said today he told them he had dinner at the service club Saturday night at 6 p. m. and the next thing he remembers he was at home suffering from stomach pains.

The commander of the 8th Air Base Group at Itazuke field where Eley is stationed said the airman had been under treatment for stomach cancer.

PRODUCTION RISES, FEED COSTS DROP FOR MR. ISAACSON

Mr. W. S. Isaacson, R.R. #2, Boone, Iowa, is just one of the throng of feeders who have cashed in on this "Duo-And-Energy-Grains" Plan. He writes:

"Since switching our flock to DUO and corn, we have noticed a marked increase in production and a sharp reduction in our feed cost per dozen eggs."

"We are very pleased with this type of feeding program. And we feel that this 'no-oats' method will make this our most profitable flock of birds. I would highly recommend DUO with corn for highest egg production from any flock."

No wonder Mr. Isaacson is pleased! His records show that at the time he wrote, he was getting 78% production from his birds, and 85% hatchability. Switch your flock now to Staley DUO and high-energy grains for egg production—and you'll be pleased, too!

How STALEY DUO EGG ATOMS With High-Energy Grain

CUTS EGG-FEED COSTS

2¢ A DOZEN

-Compared With Ordinary Feed Plus Oats!

Forget claims and talk—here are the figures. With 4-pound birds at 70% production, it takes two-thirds of a pound less feed per dozen eggs with Staley DUO and corn or milo than when oats makes up half the grain mixture. The following table uses average on-the-farm grain and feed costs near Kansas City. Grain and feed costs may be different in your area, but the following is an example of savings you can make:

Ration	Cost Per Doz. Eggs
1/2 Staley DUO Egg Feed/ 1/2 Milo	13.77c
1/2 Staley DUO Egg Feed/ 1/2 Corn	14.94c
1/2 Quality 20% Egg Feed/ 1/4 Milo, 1/4 Oats	16.24c
1/2 Quality 20% Egg Feed/ 1/4 Corn, 1/4 Oats	16.98c

These figures, based on studies at the University of Maryland,* show as nothing else can the value of the extra-energy factors of corn or milo compared to oats which is always high in fiber. More than that—they show in cash how the higher protein levels, vitamin values and liquid fish solubles in Staley DUO help hens utilize those high-energy grains.

So—decide now to put an extra 2 cents or more in your pocket for every dozen eggs you sell! See your Staley Feed dealer now. Get Staley's valuable study, "Your Farm Grains and How They Can Make You Money." And, learn how Staley DUO or the other Staley Egg Feeds can benefit your egg production.

*From Proceedings, University of Maryland, 1954 Nutrition Conference for Feed Manufacturers, page 98

Staley Milling Co., Kansas City & St. Louis, Mo. 621-57

BALANCE YOUR FARM GRAIN SUPPLY WITH ANY OF THESE STALEY EGG FEEDS

Most farmers use Staley DUO which is 22% protein, half-and-half with grain, but if you have a large grain supply, you'll get equal results by balancing 2 parts grain to 1 part Staley TRIO—28% protein. Or, if you're in a "no-grain" area, feed Staley SOLO straight.

TONIC FOR LAYERS! STALEY SUPER EGG ATOMS

Head off trouble with this "treatment-level" feed! Originally designed to combat disease, but now many successful feeders say: "If you'll put your flock on Staley SUPER Egg Atoms for four or five days, it gives them a pick-up that helps them resist disease before it hits." Ask your Staley dealer how SUPER Egg Atoms can give your flock, too, that "shot-in-the-wing" that helps them resist winter strain, keep egg production up.

Raise Minimum Pay in Majors

NEW YORK (AP)—After nearly four years of haggling with their bosses, major league baseball players finally have succeeded in having their minimum salary raised from $6,000 to $7,000 a year.
The Major League Executive Committee agreed Monday to recommend the new minimum to the owners at the annual major league meetings in December. A recommendation by the Executive Committee generally is tantamount to approval.

Bob Scheffing Is Rehired as Cubs' Manager

By United Press
Bob Scheffing and Bobby Bragan, with brand new managerial contracts under lock and key, know what they want next.

Scheffing, who was re-hired Monday to manage the Chicago Cubs in 1958, wants to get a new center-fielder. Bragan, who arrived in New York Monday to sign as the new pilot of the Cleveland Indians, wants some more pitching strength.

The Cubs gave Scheffing a new contract on the basis of the Cubs' last finish this year—a record of 29 wins and 27 losses in the last two months of the season.
The 42-year-old former big league catcher was praised by Cubs' Vice President John Holland for his work with young players.
Holland cited particularly Scheffing's work with pitchers Moe Drabowsky, Dick Drott, and Don Eason and catcher Cal Neuman.
"Scheffing had a number of problems and he met them squarely," Holland said. "We are well satisfied with the job he did."
Bragan admitted his unfamiliarity with the Indians' roster, but said he thinks if the Tribe needs strengthening anywhere it probably is in the pitching department.
"I haven't seen the club, but I'm encouraged to see they played .500 ball without their two best pitchers," said Bragan, referring to the absence of Herb Score and Bob Lemen with injuries.

Bragan, who was hired to replace Kerby Farrell after the Indians finished the season in sixth place, said he would be shooting to finish "close to the Yankees," preferably ahead of them. He said he wasn't worried by the pressure of a one-year contract.
"That's the only kind I've ever had, and if I can't do the job, I don't want to be around," he said.

THE CANVAS DAGGER

by HELEN REILLY

THE STORY: Police discount the statement of Sarah Casement that someone was in the room with painter Grant Melville prior to his plunge from his fourth floor studio window to the street below.

II
THERE was one small sequel that had nothing to do directly with Grant Melville's demise but which was not unnatural under the circumstances. On the night of the same day Melville was killed the Melville house was entered by an intruder via the roof. Mrs. Melville came in from Long Island at shortly after nine o'clock, accompanied by a parlor maid and a cook. Going up to her bedroom on the top floor the maid surprised a burglar scrambling up the ladder and through the trap door at the top of the stairs. All she saw were his legs disappearing above through the hole in the roof, then the trap door slammed shut.

Examination showed that this trap door had been broken open from the outside. The door had been fastened securely on the inside when the police were in the house in the afternoon, so no one could have escaped by that route then. What had happened was that some opportunist, figuring the house was empty, had forced an entrance intending to do a little job of removing valuables while the coast was clear. The prowler made his escape across a succession of roofs after he was surprised by the housemaid. Nothing had been taken.

It didn't occur to anyone then to check the paint on the canvas propped on the easel in the studio, the canvas on which Melville had been working immediately before he died, to see whether the paint was wet.
The case was not closed for Sarah Casement, far from it. The skepticism, the downright disbelief with which her story had been received had rocked her back on her heels. It was incredible to her that her word should be doubted. She had no ax to grind, no possible reason for lying. She knew what she had seen in the studio of the red house on Tenth street. There had been someone there with the painter. Shadows didn't cast themselves out of nothingness, the studio door hadn't closed by itself when Melville was hurtling through space to the pavement.

Sarah Casement tried to put Grant Melville out of her mind, forget the terrible sight of that falling body. The attempt was a failure. She thought of the man in the mustard-colored smock morning, noon and night, lunching, in offices, dining out, listening to music, in the middle of a conversation with someone watching a movie.
THE dead painter not only interfered with her work, he began to invade her dreams. If only, she thought, she knew more about the man, what he had been like, whether anyone had a reason for killing him, the ghost might be laid. A mystery absorbed and challenged only because it was a mystery; as soon as you knew the answer you lost interest.
Three days after the funeral Sarah called Jim Deniston, who had been a friend of her father's and who happily ran a small and unsuccessful gallery on East Fifty seventh street. "Melville? A painter?" Jim Deniston sounded blank. "I'll try and find out."
Jim called back the next day.

Bull Pups Beat Eldorado's Eaglets, 13-0

The Harrisburg Bull Pups Monday night broke into the win column as they blanked a good Eldorado freshman-sophomore team, 13 to 0, at Taylor Field. Eldorado had beaten Benton and McLeansboro in its two previous contests.

The first quarter was scoreless but with about five minutes remaining in the second period Steve Frantz, Harrisburg guard, broke through into the Eldorado backfield, grabbed a pitchout and raced 65 yards to score. Larry Aldridge, fullback, carried over for the extra point and Harrisburg led 7-0.

Soon afterwards Prince of Eldorado ran 22 yards to the H-39 and quarterback Mike Mangrum tossed a pass to Hatfield on the 21. But Aldridge intercepted another pass on the 15 and ran it back to the 43 to end the threat.

Harrisburg took the second half kickoff and in eight plays moved from the Pup 39 to score. Larry Ledford started things off with a 15-yard run and a couple of two-yard plunges by Bobby Karnes and Aldridge took the ball to the 32, where a five-yard penalty set the boys back to the 37.

After a two-yard pass, John Stone, a newcomer who looked good, raced 12 yards to the 23 and Larry Wise, who also came out after the season was well under way passed 14 yards to Alfred Johnson on the nine. Aldridge then plunged to the six and then went the rest of the way on the next try.

The try for extra point failed. In the last quarter Eldorado moved all the way to the H-6, where the Eaglets had four downs to make a tally. However, on the fourth try Delmar Barton was stopped on the two and Harrisburg took over.

Each team made nine first downs. Harrisburg travels to Mt. Vernon next Monday night. Eldorado will entertain Johnston City. Most all freshman-sophomore games are on Monday nights.

Second Straight Co-Champion Seen Possible in South Seven Loop

The South Seven conference faces the possibility of a second straight season with a co-champion in football after the 13-13 battle by Herrin and Centralia last Friday night.

In pre-season figuring Herrin and Centralia were considered the loop's strongest and with their game ending in a deadlock it seems probable they will win the remaining games on their scheduled dates to become co-champs.

Last year, in the second game of the season, Centralia and Benton waged a 13-all game, then went unbeaten in the loop the rest of the way to share the crown.

In other conference games Friday Mt. Vernon walloped West Frankfort 36-7 and Benton shut out Marion 31-0. The loop's seventh runner—Harrisburg—played outside the conference and lost to Eldorado 56-6.

Herrin held a first half advantage and Centralia took charge the second half.

Herrin Outgains Centralia
Statistics show Herrin gaining 221 yards from scrimmage, including 119 by rushing. Centralia's yardage gained totaled 149, 94 by rushing and 55 through the air.

Herrin scored midway in the opening quarter on a pass from Richard Box to Willie Williams, the play covering 40 yards.

Early in the second frame Centralia gained a 6-6 tie on a 33-yard pass from Ron Linder to Lowell Stonecipher.

There was no more scoring until the fourth quarter. Then Centralia went in front. The scoring play was an 8-yard plunge over left guard by Leon Carter. A successful place kick by Bob Hight gave Centralia a 13-6 advantage with less than 8 minutes to play.

The Herrin Tigers came roaring back, driving 60 yards for the tying points. Jim Gaudoni passed to John Hendricks in the end zone for the TD and Gaudoni hit the line for the PAT.

New High for Rams
Mt. Vernon's 36-7 victory over West Frankfort set a new high for the winning Rams in 18 meetings with West Frankfort.

The series started in 1926 and Mt. Vernon's best previous effort was a 25-12 win in 1950. West Frankfort soared to a 75-0 decision in the first Mt. Vernon-West Frankfort meeting.

The Rams took an early 2-0 lead on a blocked punt, then Glenn Fleming broke loose for a 48-yard scoring run.

In the second quarter Willie Hardin scored on a 40-yard punt return. Willi Rodgers broke up the middle for 70 yards in the third frame and shortly thereafter Fleming scored on a 53-yarder. The final Ram TD came on a two-yard plunge by Eldson. Crocker place kicked three PATS and Eldson ran for the other.

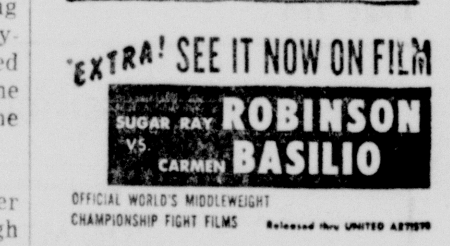

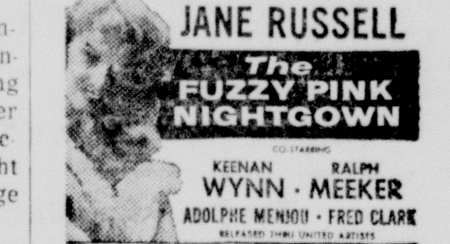

Mt. Vernon rolled to a net of 288 yards on the ground from scrimmage. WF's net gain was 202 by rushing.

Population Expert Warns U. S. May Run Out of Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—A population expert warns that Americans have been "reproducing so merrily" that the country eventually may run out of living space.

Robert C. Cook, editor of the Population Bulletin, predicts the U. S. population will hit 231 million by 1975—an increase of 60 million in only 18 years.

At current rates the population should total half a billion in about 100 years.

Cook warned in an article in the bulletin, a publication of the Population Reference Bureau, that long before that time, however, "sheer numbers will restrict our mobility and completely change our way of living, compressing our society and culture into molds utterly inconceivable to us now."

Cook predicted that in time a "600-mile strip city" will stretch along the East Coast from Maine to Virginia. Already, he said, of this 600-mile area "there are only two stretches—one of two miles and the other of 17 miles—not a part of a metropolitan area."

Cook made his observations in a review Sunday of a book entitled, "The Limits of Mankind," by R. A. Piddington, a British author.

Piddington said Britain has achieved "the embarrassing distinction of being the first country in history to run out of space." Cook said the same fate may be in store for the United States if present population trends continue.

First Class of School of Practical Nursing to Graduate Thursday Night

The first class of Practical Nurses, from the Harrisburg School of Practical Nursing, will graduate Thursday, at 8 p. m.

The commencement exercises will be held in the main auditorium of the Harrisburg Junior high school, with State Sen. Glen O. Jones the guest speaker.

Mrs. Val Oshel, class instructor, will present the class pins and Eltis Henson, principal of the Harrisburg Township high school and executive director for the Nursing School, will present the diplomas. Rev. Glen Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian church, will give the invocation and benediction.

The school is a part of the Vocational Department of the Illinois Public school system, under the supervision of a board of directors composed of representatives from the affiliated hospitals, the local organizations of Registered Nurses and Practical Nurses and supporting business firms and organizations.

The school's support is obtained by a small percentage of the instructors' salary being paid by the state, the rest by public contributions and a nominal tuition fee from each student nurse.

At the present time, though only a year old, the Harrisburg school holds second place in the state for its fine organization and curriculum.

The second class of sixteen students began Monday, Sept. 30. Belva Tucker, a scholarship student from the Eldorado Woman's club, is a member of the second class. Her name is not included in the list of students previously given.

Olivet College Observes Its 50th Anniversary

Gov. William G. Stratton spoke last week at ceremonies celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of Olivet college, Church of the Nazarene school of higher education, at Kankakee, Ill.

The Kankakee Daily Journal carried a 12-page special section devoted to the college as well as front page story and pictures about the celebration.

The Rev. Charles Scott, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene in Harrisburg who received his Bachelor of Arts degree at Olivet, said there are 160 graduates or former students of Olivet now in the ministry, in teaching and in other occupations south of Springfield in Illinois.

The school is now accredited by the North Central Association.

Evangelist Bernie Smith of Harrisburg is a well-known alumnus and teacher at Olivet.

This is the EDSEL for 1958

"Proved by the longest, toughest test of all—1½ million road miles"

No other car has ever been more thoroughly tested than the Edsel.

Edsels were pitted against the mountain passes of Colorado, where transmissions, carburetors and brakes had to meet demands far beyond all normal needs.

Checked and rechecked, Edsel test caravans ploughed through powdery alkali grit and 118° desert heat in Death Valley. Here the Edsel passed every test by the most comfortable margins.

Edsel test cars spent months in city and cross-country traffic, testing engines, brakes, ride and handling in the kind of driving you do every day.

The Edsel passed every test in the books—and some never thought of before. That's why when you drive your first Edsel, you'll know the solid certainty of a finely built automobile.
